

How to be a Bulldog Parent...

Not every child can play football; however, we believe that football is a sport that benefits every child. The learning and discipline that football provides goes beyond the playing field and is reflected in your child's life experiences. We are here to assist in that growth; however, you are ultimately responsible for raising a Bull Dog.

Set Expectations!

- Going into your season with us, you should set both yours and your child's expectations. Stars in football aren't born; they are built through hard work and determination.

Be a Fan!

- Football is not a sport where parents drop their kids off and then see them when they're done. Football players need support from their coaches, and their fans. You are their biggest fan!

Be an Example!

- There are rules and regulations that govern the actions of every fan at a football game. Getting ejected does not reinforce the sportsmanship we require from your child.

Get Involved!

- Running a football program takes commitment from our parents beyond our current committee and staff. When you're asked, do whatever you can to help.

Have Fun!

- Football is still a game, so above all, have fun!

Always remember you are a Parent of a Bulldog and they are proud of you!
